

The purpose of literature is to turn blood into ink - T S Eliot

About the Department

English is the window to the modern world. The department was launched in the same year, where the college was originated in the academic year 2012. The undergraduate programme also started in 2012. The department strives to make its students not just well-informed but also employable in all spheres of life. Every year the department conducted many programme and a seminar to increase the knowledge of the students of MA English was introduced in 2017. The teachers and students giving hands with each other to attain academic excellence. Efficient teachers are contributed to the growth of the department with dedication and sincerity.